why choose THIS COURSE?

Scripture Union Queensland started providing formal training for youth and ministry workers in 1987, and for many years the course program had been known as YMIS (Youth Ministry Internship Scheme).

Over the past 30 years we have gained a solid reputation for providing an up-to-date training experience for people working with young people or keen to enter this exciting industry.

Today, Scripture Union Queensland delivers nationally-recognised training in Youth Work. Our programs have been developed in line with industry standards, with a particular focus on developing a Christian framework for the practice of youth work in community, school or church contexts.

These programs are more than a Youth Work qualification; they're also an opportunity to engage in a journey of personal and spiritual development.

Scripture Union Queensland is an RTO (Registered Training Organisation 30548), which is a training provider registered by ASQA (Australian Skills Quality Authority) to deliver VET (Vocational Education and Training) qualifications.

Our Diploma of Youth Work (CHC50413) is a nationally recognised qualification from the Community Services Training Package (CHC).

The focus of this VET qualification is to develop the skills and knowledge of students, with a focus on competence, to ensure they are equipped to work with young people in a range of workplaces.

Scripture Union Queensland continues to work alongside industry to improve and develop our programs.

We are passionate about equipping our students with the skills and experience they need to have a positive impact in the community through supporting young people, their families and working alongside other community services and organisations.

Diploma of Youth Work CHC50413

18 Months, Full-Time

The Diploma of Youth Work is designed for practitioners who are, or will be, working in positions responsible for the development and outcomes of programs and services for young people. Students will be trained to industry standards in meeting the social, behavioural, health, welfare, developmental and protection needs of young people in the youth work sector.

Students completing this program will build on the foundations, frameworks, skills and principles of youth work explored in the Certificate IV in Youth Work. Students will look at the skills and processes of more complex youth work, including the direction and supervision of volunteers and relating with external organisations.

The Diploma of Youth Work is delivered through a combination of online, face-to-face (Intensives) and workplace experiences. Brisbane-based students have the option to engage in a weekly on campus program while regional and interstate students are supported at a distance by training staff.

In 2019 the program will be offered in two Intakes — February Intake or July Intake. The qualification consists of 21 units of competency.

TRAINING

HOW THE course works

To ensure a holistic approach to training, the units of competency in the Diploma of Youth Work has been organised into themed 'Blocks' focussing on a specific area of youth work practice.

Each semester students will complete an integrated block of training.

Coursework is delivered between February and December each year with semesters and breaks generally delivered in line with Queensland school terms.

Each Block involves four aspects of training and assessment: Face-2-Face Intensives, Weekly Training Activities, Workplace Experience, and Assessment Tasks.

Face-2-Face Intensives

Intensives are held each semester, in Brisbane. These week long full-time training experiences are a compulsory requirement of the course for all students in each block.

During an Intensive, students can expect to spend time learning in interactive workshops, participating in small groups with their trainer, exploring content presented in lectures, working with other students to practice youth work skills, and mixing with other students and the training staff during breaks and social activities.

Students need to make their own arrangements to attend these Intensives, including any travel, accommodation and catering needs.

Weekly Training Activities

All students engage with a range of weekly training materials primarily through an online learning system (YMIS Online).

This may include readings, videos, podcasts, interactive online activities, and lecture materials. Students are essentially self-directed in the completion of their training but will receive regular guidance and support from their trainer.

Regional and interstate students are encouraged to connect regularly with their trainers and network with other students in their area for support and encouragement.

Brisbane-based students may have the option to attend weekly sessions at the Brisbane campus over one half-day for each of the allocated weeks of a Block.

The sessions value active peer learning to explore key themes each week and include field trips and assessment activities to build understanding and skills. Trainers are available to provide additional support and assistance to students.

Workplace Experience

All students are expected to be employed in a youth work related role, or undertake a Youth Work Placement in a relevant context. In each Block, students will need to complete some assessment that relates to their workplace or placement. This might include tasks such as asking questions of their Placement Supervisor or line manager, reading organisational policy and procedure, interacting with young people or running small group sessions. These expectations are clearly explained at the start of each Block.

This aspect of the course is a crucial learning experience, where information and strategies from the training can be extended into application in a practical setting. The suitability of a work role or the need for a Youth Work Placement will be identified during the pre-enrolment consultation.

Assessment Tasks

Each Block comprises a range of assessment tasks that provide the student the opportunity to demonstrate competence in youth work skills and knowledge. Tasks may include practical demonstration (such as role plays or tasks in the workplace), group discussions, case studies, research activities, and reflections on practical tasks and policy development.

ENROLMENT requirements

Pre-Enrolment Consultation

Scripture Union Queensland takes pride in providing quality training that both meets the individual needs of students and also ensures that students meet the requirements of the course.

Students who apply for the Diploma of Youth Work will participate in a pre-enrolment consultation with a member of the training team prior to formal enrolment in the program.

This process helps identify individual learning needs and pathways, and clarify course requirements and expectations. This consultation may be conducted in person or over the phone and will vary depending on each student's individual situation and needs. There are some elements that need to be given particular consideration and these are outlined below.

Full-time Enrolment

Our Youth Work qualifications have been designed to maximise flexibility for Brisbane, regional and interstate students.

However, the Diploma of Youth Work is a full-time program and requires students to ensure they have a minimum of 20 hours a week available to engage with and complete the training requirements, with workplace experiences in addition to this. Time is allocated to weekly learning activities, assessment preparation and further training experiences. Attendance at the face-2-face Intensives is a requirement of enrolment. A course calendar will be issued during the enrolment process.

Workplace Context or Youth Work Placement

To maximise the effectiveness of the qualification and its content some aspects will be contextualised to the workplace and, as such, requires access to an appropriate workplace. If a student is already working in a youth work related role this may provide the appropriate context for workplace related tasks.

For students not currently working in such a role, training staff will arrange a Youth Work Placement. This will ensure a suitable work environment where they can undertake practical experiences and build skills in working with young people under the supervision of an employed, qualified and experienced worker.

Students who participate in a Youth Work Placement are required to complete a specified number of hours in a placement for each Block. For most students this will equate to one day of placement experience each week in addition to weekly training activities, negotiated with the Placement Supervisor. Options for placement will be discussed with students during the pre-enrolment consultation.

Working with Children Check (Blue Card)

All Queensland students enrolled in the Diploma of Youth Work are required to hold a current Working with Children Check (Blue Card) or notification of exemption. For more information about Queensland Blue Card Services please visit bluecard.qld.gov.au.

Interstate students will need to provide relevant suitability details issued by their own State government.

Internet Access and Online Components

Students must arrange at their own expense reliable access to a computer with internet connection to successfully engage with the course.

YMIS Online uses a range of learning materials, including videos, documents, podcasts and screen-casts that are best accessed through a broadband quality connection.

Eligibility and Academic Suitability

The Diploma of Youth Work is suitable for a student who is able to manage the requirements of this qualification; this includes experience in youth work and academic suitability. Suitability for qualification entry will be considered as a part of the Admission process and the relevant documentation associated with this will be requested at that time.

In order to enrol in the Diploma of Youth Work, a student needs to demonstrate they meet one of the following eligibility requirements:

- Have completed the Certificate IV in Youth Work (CHC40413)*
- Have completed an historical version of the Certificate IV in Youth Work or a related qualification of Certificate IV or higher under the Australian Qualifications Framework*
- Employed in a youth work role in a suitable context with sufficient experience to demonstrate likely success at this qualification level and providing evidence of an Australian Year 12 Certificate

A student who is not currently employed in the sector and has not completed relevant previous training should undertake the Certificate IV in Youth Work (CHC40413) as the most appropriate qualification pathway.

Please note, Certificate IV or higher level qualifications must have been delivered in English*

Credit Transfer and Recognition of Prior Learning

Students are encouraged to apply for Credit Transfer (CT) and/or Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) if they have completed the same units as those offered in the qualification, have completed equivalent study or have experience in a relevant field.

CT may be awarded to students who have completed exactly the same units as those offered in the Diploma of Youth Work through previous training.

RPL may be awarded to students who have proved through appropriate documentary evidence, written statements or other evidence that they have met the required assessment criteria for units through previous study and/or experience in a relevant field.

Students will be asked to provide copies of transcripts and academic records as evidence that competency in the unit/s have been achieved. Application for CT/RPL forms must also be completed and submitted for processing.

Students applying for CT or RPL must formally enrol in the qualification and pay the tuition fees as advised.

Once the CT/RPL process is completed a revised fee for the qualification will be calculated based on the outcome of the CT/RPL process.

There is a one-off application fee of $70 regardless of the number of units of CT or RPL being applied for, and tuition fees for those units will be reduced from the total program fees.

There is no cost for CT units. The standard cost of RPL is 70% of the full tuition fee for each unit awarded.

Students who have previously completed the Certificate IV in Youth Work (CHC40413) can commence the Diploma of Youth Work (CHC50413) and may receive credit or recognition for up to 9 units of competency already completed. This may be equivalent to 6 months of coursework, enabling them to potentially complete the qualification over one year full-time.

Applicants who have completed historical versions of the Certificate IV in Youth Work or other related qualifications are encouraged to explore recognition pathways with training staff during the pre-enrolment consultation.

Pathways

The Diploma of Youth Work aims to provide students with access and exposure to a range of youth work models and youth work experiences that may assist them in pathway decisions.

Potential career pathways with this qualification may include: chaplaincy; residential youth work; church youth work; or community youth work. In each of these cases other relevant role requirements will be considered which may include experience, other qualifications, suitability to the specific role or context.

Common education pathways for graduates could include further study in: psychology, counselling, social work, teaching or theological studies.

Higher Education programs may give credit for this qualification and we encourage students to investigate these options should they be interested in further study.
